Section I: Administration

1. The Tulane University Law School Sports Law Society organizes the International Baseball Arbitration Competition. These rules reference the International Baseball Arbitration Competition Committee (“Committee”), which is a component organization of the Sports Law Society. The Committee directly administers the Competition by coordinating the joint efforts of student participants, guest arbitrators, and the Competition’s staff.
2. The Committee will consider the submission of exhibits to constitute each team members’ attestation that the entire team has complied with all provisions of these rules.

Section II: Competition Overview

The International Baseball Arbitration Competition is a simulated salary arbitration Competition modeled closely on the procedures used by Major League Baseball (“MLB”) and the Major League Baseball Players Association (“MLBPA”). Like most law school moot court Competitions, the International Baseball Arbitration Competition's main goal is to provide participants with the opportunity to sharpen their oral and written advocacy skills. The Competition, however, is unique in that it allows law students to sharpen these skills within the specialized context of MLB salary arbitration proceedings.

Section III: Recommended Reading

The Committee highly recommends all student competitors to read “A Most Interesting Part of Baseball’s Monetary Structure – Salary Arbitration in its Thirty-Fifth Year” by Ed Edmonds. The citation is: 20 Marq. Sports L. Rev. 1 (2009). After reading the article, students will have a better understanding of MLB salary arbitration, and be better prepared for this Competition's cases. In addition, please review the 2017-2021 Major League Baseball Basic Agreement ("CBA") for current arbitration rules.

Section IV: Teams

1. Each team entering the Competition must submit a registration form and the applicable entry fee. A team will not be registered until the Committee receives both. Registration will close once teams from forty different schools are registered or until the final registration deadline passes, whichever is earlier.
2. Entry Fee – Traditional Competition
  - a. The early entry fee for teams with two members is $250.
  - b. The early entry fee for teams with three members is $275.
  - c. The regular entry fee for teams with two members is $275.
  - d. The regular entry fee for teams with three members is $300.
3. Entry Fee – Written-Only Competition
  - a. To enter the Written-Only Competition, each participant must have a partner. (at least two participants per Brief)
  - b. The entry fee for teams with two or three members is $60.
4. A school may indicate its desire to send two teams to the Competition. Schools will be notified after the registration period has concluded as to whether there is space to accommodate a second team.
5. Each team must consist of two or three law students attending the same American Bar Association ("ABA") approved law school. Only individuals pursuing a J.D. or L.L.M. degree are eligible to participate.
6. Schools that have a qualifying internal Competition may register a team without specifying the team member names in the registration form. In that case, the registration form must include the contact information of the person in charge of the school's internal qualifying Competition. In addition, the school must submit the applicable entry fee for a team with two members ($250 if early or $275 if regular). If the winning team of the internal qualifying Competition has three members, the team must render the remaining balance before the start of the Competition.

7. After a registration form and entry fee have been submitted, a team must obtain approval from the Committee to substitute a team member.

Section V: Venue Rules

By participating in the Competition, team members agree to refrain from disturbing any Zoom meetings. Any issues regarding room assignments, time changes, or the specific placement of judges shall be left to the behest of the Committee.

Section VI: Competition Mechanics

1. The Committee will randomly divide the pool of 40 teams into four groups of 10.
  - a. If there are an irregular number of teams for any reason, then the Committee retains the power to format the Competition in the best interest of the rest of the participating teams.
2. The Committee will create three different salary arbitration cases. Each case will include the Player's filing number and the Club's filing number. The Committee will then assign teams to a side—Player or Club—for two cases, and to both sides for one case. Teams will be required to prepare oral presentations and exhibit books for each of the four assignments.
  - a. All teams in a group will have the same assignments.
  - b. The players used in this Competition are Major League Baseball players eligible for salary arbitration in this year's round of arbitration. Teams must ignore anything occurring after the cases are released.
  - c. Each case's filing numbers are projections of the Committee in an attempt to create the most realistic hearings possible.
3. The Committee will post cases to the Competition's website on day of registration.
4. For each assignment, teams will submit a brief (outlining exhibits), an exhibit book (outlining and supporting oral arguments), and prepare an oral argument.

5. Teams will be ranked within their group based on brief and exhibit quality.
  - a. Within each group, the best submission per case will receive 10 points, second best will receive 9 points, third best will receive 8 points, and so on. Thus, the best possible score is 40 and worst possible score is 4.
  - b. The total sum of a team's points will determine its position in the group's power ranking.
6. The Committee will post all exhibits to the Competition's Google Drive/Dropbox January 11, 2021 to allow opposing teams to "exchange" exhibit books in advance of hearings.
7. Three Preliminary Rounds (Friday):
  - a. The Committee will assign a salary arbitration case to each of the three preliminary rounds.
  - b. Throughout the three preliminary rounds, teams within Group A will argue against teams within Group B, and vice-versa. Likewise, teams within Group C will argue against teams within Group D, and vice-versa. All matchups will be randomly picked and posted to the Competition's Google Drive/Dropbox on January 11, 2021.
  - c. In each round, the team with the highest oral argument score will receive a win, and the team with the lowest oral argument score will receive a loss.
  - d. Teams are allowed to see the numerical score of each round after score sheets have been submitted and recorded by the Committee, but not whether they won or lost until the three preliminary rounds have been completed.
8. After the preliminary rounds, the top two teams with the best win-loss record in each sub-group will advance to the quarterfinals. In the case of a tie, total margin of victory in oral arguments will serve as the tiebreaker. In the case of need for further tiebreakers, the team with the higher power ranking will advance.
9. Playoff Rounds (Saturday):

- a. Quarterfinals: The winners of Group A will argue against the winners of Group B and the winners of Group C will argue against the winners of Group D. The teams will reargue one of the three cases.
- b. Semifinals: The winners of the quarterfinal matchups will advance to the semifinals. They will be notified of the player and side they will argue for this round upon completion of the quarterfinal round. Teams must be prepared to argue either side of the case for which they have prepared both sides. Should this case be selected, the higher seeded team will have preference in choosing their side.
- c. Finals: The winner of each semifinal matchup will advance to the finals. The teams will be notified of the player and side they will argue upon completion of the semifinal round. Again, teams must be prepared to argue either side of the case for which they have prepared both sides. Should this case be selected, the higher seeded team will have preference in choosing their side.

7. Teams may only revise or amend the rebuttal portion of exhibits after submission.

Section VIII: Oral Arguments

1. Section VI(E)(10)(a-c) of the 2017-2021 Basic Agreement governs the scope of permissible information.
2. Oral arguments will only reference information available per the 2021 International Arbitration Competition Problems provided on the TIBAC website.
3. If a team acts in violation of section 8.1 or 8.2, or if they provide information that is found to be factually incorrect, the opposing team must object to the arbitrator immediately. No objections will be allowed once the hearing has concluded.

11. Should an entire team no-show any of their scheduled oral arguments for reasons other than uncontrollable circumstances, they will forfeit that round and all subsequent rounds. They will also be banned from participating in the Tulane International Baseball Arbitration Competition for two years. Should an event arise where a team cannot compete in any of their oral arguments, refund of the entry fee will be at the Committee's discretion.

Section IX: Scoring

  - b. Each judge will evaluate written materials based upon a provided scoring guide.
  - c. The guide will be posted in the Competition's website along with the salary arbitration cases.
2. Oral Argument Scoring:
  - a. Each arbitrator will evaluate the oral arguments based upon a provided scoring guide.
  - b. The guide will be posted in the Competition's website along with the salary arbitration cases.
  - c. Should panels of arbitrators hear playoff rounds, a simple majority of the arbitrators determines the round's winner.
